Northern California

Click HERE to contact us about this business!

This business manufactures and recycles wood pallets and wood shipping containers serving the industrial and agricultural distribution centers in Northern California. Their process involves a closed-loop system where the company obtains used and damaged pallets from their distribution centers, repairs them at their facility, and returns them to the distribution centers. Within the pallet repair process, instead of using new boards they use solid pieces from salvaged pallets for repairs, minimizing the need for new timber. Waste scrap wood is turned into sawdust and recycled.
